COMPARATIVES Comparatives in English are used in statements where it is wanted to mention differences between two objects, places or people (nouns) The comparatives have different functions: emphasizing superiority, equality and inferiority and every one of them have different structure.
COMPARATIVES.... Superiority (Than) ...are used to contrast the qualities of two people or objects. When adjectives are one or two syllables, (short adjectives) the ending -er is used, then "than" is written plus the complement (noun). For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Today is colder than yesterday.- The dog is faster than the turtle.- The apple is smaller than the watermelon
COMPARATIVE Superiority FORM Short Adjectives Noun+verb TO BE+ADJECTIVE+ ER +THAN Complement Today is colder than yesterday

*NOTE: some two syllables adjectives can be considered long in English.
